

Urban Fix

Let our cultural concierge be your guide, whoever you are...

JUNIOR JAGGER

TEAM LEADER
GEORGIA JAGGER

EARTHY FIRTH

TEAM LEADER
COLIN FIRTH

GOTHIC GODDESS

TEAM LEADER
AMANDA HARLECH

COOL COACH

TEAM LEADER
FABIO CAPELLO

Go

The party-circuit regular should swing by the Riflemaker gallery to squint at the Disconnection light installation (left) by Russian artist Andrey Bartenev. Until 11 March (020 7439 0000).

He can whisk his Italian wife Livia to see the Modiglianis in A Decade of Discovery: Ten Years of the Estorick Collection. From 16 January (020 7704 9522).

Gothic and dramatic, Harlech will love Helena Bonham Carter in her latest guise as Mrs Lovett (left) in Tim Burton's Sweeney To Out on 25 Jan

The Italian will soon be ditching the espressos after a Tea Master Class at Harvey Nichols on Sunday (020 7201 8689).

See

The Jagger girl should catch the world premiere of Happy Now? at the National Theatre, a tale of modern women directed by Thea Sharrock and starring Olivia Williams. From 16 January (020 7452 3000).

The actor and his sons will marvel at Varekai (left), the new show from Cirque du Soleil. At the Royal Albert Hall until 10 February (020 7589 8212).

An opera fan, she won't want to miss Richard Eyre's production of La Traviata on its return to the Royal Opera House. From Monday (020 7304 4000).

He's a thoroughly international sportsman so he'll love the basketball-playing unicyclists in Afrika! Afrika! At the Tented Palaces on The O₂ site from 17 January (0844 847 1717).

Spend

GAVIN TURK
Sculptor worked here
1989 - 1991

A tax-disc holder by Gavin Turk (above) from the Pretty Taxing collection is the perfect gift for her art gallerist friend Tyrone Wood. £30, from www.artcarbootfair.com.

Colin can stock his cellar with a visit to Sotheby's finest and rarest wines auction. On 17 January at New Bond Street (www.sothebys.com).

Everyone needs a spruce-up in January. She can nip into Harrods and head to The Beauty Concierge, who will guide her through the maze of beauty products (020 7730 1234).

After 60 years on the Continent, a move to England will be a shock to the system. The Wrong Kind of Snow: The Complete Daily Companion to the British Weather (Hodder & Stoughton, £14.99) should help as he grapples with the winter chills.

Experience

After a night of party-hopping, Georgia can finish up with swordfish poached in a curry leaf and ginger infused coconut sauce at Vineet Bhatia's new Westbourne Grove establishment Urban Turban (020 7243 4200).

The eco-friendly shop owner will be keen on a new pair of sheepskin Po-Zu boots (above) and he can recycle the coconut-husk packaging on his compost heap. From £60 (www.thenaturalstore.co.uk).

Harlech and Lagerfeld are always seeking inspiration. Gerry Fox's first solo exhibition, Living London (below), will fit the bill. At the 176 Gallery in Camden from 31 January (020 7428 8940).

Fabio's got a lot to learn about England. He can brush up with the Museum of London's walk on 20 January. Tickets £7.50 (0870 444 3850).

Rex Features, Mark Mainz/Getty Images, Dave Bennett, Image.net, Food&Drinkphotos.com, Gerry Fox, 2007, courtesy of the artist and Gavin Turk courtesy of www.artcarbootfair.com. Courtesy of Andrey Bartenev and the Riflemaker gallery